Atlantis: The Antediluvian World – by Ignatius Donnelly – For centuries the world has been intrigued by the "Atlantis theory," a widely held belief that there once existed in the Atlantic Ocean, opposite the mouth of the Mediterranean Sea, a large island, which was the remnant of an Atlantic continent. On this Island of Atlantis, the adherents of the theory maintain, man first rose from a state of barbarism to civilization. From the mighty nation which developed there, colonizing parties went out to the Gulf of Mexico, the Mississippi, the Amazon, the Pacific Coast of South America, the Mediterranean, the West Coast of Europe and Africa, the Baltic, and the Middle East.

The Natural House – by Frank Lloyd Wright – When Frank Lloyd Wright turns his attention to one of the most important personal problems now facing practically everyone in our society – it is time for rejoicing. Mr. Wright meets the urgent problem of suitable shelter for the family in a democracy, in a magnificent and – as was to be expected – challenging book. Here, presented at last in full detail, is the natural house.

Mark Twain Himself – by Milton Meltzer – Mark Twain's life was "an unswerving regularity of irregularity," he said. He reached old age "by sticking strictly to a scheme of life which would kill anybody else."

That life – one of the rarest, richest, and raciest America has known – is captured here in a delightful mosaic of words and pictures. The words are Twain's own, taken from the vast variety of his writings – not only the autobiography, but his letters, notebooks, newspaper reporting, sketches, travel pieces, even fiction.

The pictures – more than 600 – counterpoint Twain's text. Here is Mark himself, from the apprentice in his printer's cap to the dying world-famous figure finishing his last voyage in a wheelchair.

Mr. Sermon – by R. F. Delderfield – The author of The Avenue and The Green Gauntlet presents the story of a middle-aged English schoolteacher, comfortably settled in a second-rate school and a placid marriage, who breaks out of his shell. He wanders all over England enjoying his freedom and discovering his own strengths as a man.

AGED Teachers Will Meet

More than eighty teachers of agricultural education in Southside Virginia are expected to attend a conference in Chatham, Feb. 23. C. B. Feagans, area president, will preside over the sessions which will begin at 4:30 p.m.

Practically all of the program will be devoted to Automatic Feed Processing And Feeding. Speakers will include J. L. Calhoun and A. J. Lambert, specialists in Electric Power and Processing; K. E. Loope, specialist in Farm Management; and John R. Crunkilton, assistant professor of Agricultural Education – all of V.P.I.

Special guests of the teachers will be agricultural education seniors now doing student teaching in Appomattox County, Halifax County Senior, and Randolph-Henry High Schools. P.J. Myers, coordinator of Agricultural Education in Pittsylvania County, is in charge of arrangements for the conference.

Foresters Endorse New Tax Plan

The Robert E. Lee Chapter of the Society of American Foresters at a meeting on January 27, 1970 in Keysville endorsed a resolution supporting the proposed legislation affecting pine reforestation. State Forester George W. Dean explained the proposal of the Pine Reforestation Action Committee which was instrumental in developing the legislation.

The act, if passed by the General Assembly, will provide for an increase in the Forest Products Tax on pine wood. This is a tax paid by sawmill operators, pulpwood producers, veneer operators, and others shipping or processing wood. The Forest industry, recognizing the urgency of the pine shortage, agreed to increase their tax rate to raise an estimated 530,000 dollars. It is requested that this amount be matched by the General Assembly from state funds to provide an annual sum of over one million dollars "earmarked" for pine reforestation on lands not now properly managed for either hardwoods or pine.

The legislation will provide subsidy payments to landowners amounting to fifty percent of the cost of site preparation and tree planting. The subsidy payment is not to exceed $20.00 per acre. The Virginia Division of Forestry will be authorized to purchase specialized site preparation and tree planting equipment to make available to landowners to expedite the job.

"The 1966 Forest Survey revealed that we are cutting 15% more pine than we are growing, this is the reason for an active program to offset this deficity," said Dean.

The Chapter members discussed the importance of the pine based industries to the State's economy. They also pointed out the need to assure these industries a continuous supply of raw material. Apply, which they cannot hope to grow on industry owned land, no matter how well managed. This means that the small private landowners who own most of Virginian's timber, must be persuaded to improve the management and growth of pine on their lands.

Officers elected for 1970 were: Chairman, William A. Hubble, Jr., U.S. Plywood, South Boston; Chairman-Elect, William T. Eichost, The Chesapeake Corp., Amelia; Secretary-Treasurer, James E. Cook, Virginia Division of Forestry, County Forester for Amelia, Amelia.

Moore Home Fire Damages

Appomattox firemen battled a fire Tuesday morning, Feb. 10 at the home of the Tom Moores, Stonewall district, a fire that severely damaged the house, according to a report from Harold Carter, fireman. A truck and a tanker were used to keep the fire from spreading.

The Friday evening previous to this, Feb. 6, W. A. Moon, Spout Spring, reported a chimney fire with little damage. One truck answered this call.

Friday afternoon, Feb. 13, there was a false alarm about 1 p.m.

P.O. Dept. Expands Home Mail Delivery

Postmaster General Winton M. Blount has ordered home delivery sevices made available for the first time to 4 million Americans starting February 16.

According to H. W. Conner, postmaster, about 1.2 million families will be eligible to receive home delivery under the Postmaster General's order which covers those persons living more than a quarter mile away from post offices too small to qualify for city delivery services.

They have been required previously to go to the post offices to get their mail.

Because these persons don't live at least half a mile away from their post offices, they have not qualified in the past for rural delivery services.

To get the new service, it is only necessary that a majority of those living within the qualified area desire the service, and the the service be requested of their postmaster.

It will be accomplished principally by adding delivery stops to already-existing rural delivery routes, or by expanding the area served by some shorter rural routes.
